

Many congratulations to our A Level students 2026!

We are thrilled to share this year's A level results for 2026 and to celebrate the great triumphs of our fabulous Upper Sixth who have made us all extremely proud today. It is not just about their amazing grades, but a tangible acknowledgement of their ambition, resilience, and determination, having chosen to pursue a challenging, broad international education with great success, embracing unique and enriching opportunities that only an Anglo education affords. Notably, over 90% of the cohort completed 4 or more courses this year, demonstrating our students' ambition and the value the school places on a breadth of study.

Furthermore, the vast majority of students also incorporated the study of languages in their Sixth Form study, and we know their linguistic and communication skills, intercultural understanding and knowledge of global citizenship gained from Anglo's international curriculum will also open wide doors to further academic and vocational pathways. In an interconnected world, Anglo students' global mindset and their confident ability to communicate across cultures, appreciating difference and diversity, will forever create opportunities in a global career market, where these skills are highly valued and in huge demand. Students like Ollie, are leaving Anglo as triple linguists having gained an A* in History A in French, A in Spanish and a 7 in Ab Initio Italian. He will progress to the University of Leeds to study French and Spanish. Ollie said, "I did it! I am so pleased! Thank you to everyone at Anglo for helping me get here."

As we wave them off to far reaching destinations across the UK and around the globe this week, we know that their international education will have prepared them well for higher level specialist study, apprenticeships or the world of work. We know their Anglo experience will have shaped them into resilient, ambitious and principled adults, who will make a significant contribution in transforming our global society into more peaceful, cooperative and symbiotic place for future generations. We wish them all well with their next steps.

Student Success!

Daichi, followed the AIB route and achieved A* A* A* with a 7 in his IB Standard. He is progressing to the London School of Economics to specialise in Geography. He said, “Now the hard work is done, I can really look forward to university. I hope to specialise in the study of climate change and combine this with my interest in law”

Students on the AIB route, achieved notable success: Patrick, gained grades AAA7 and will progress to the University of Belfast to study Law. Patrick was absolutely thrilled with his results. He said, “I cannot believe my results, and they get me where I want to be for university. I’m so pleased the hard work paid off.”

Additionally, Grace gained grades A* A* B 6 and is taking up a place at the University of Manchester to study Modern Languages with Business Management, having studied Chinese at AES. Joshua gained grades A*A A and is off to University of Sheffield to study Politics and International Relations.

Hugo gained grades AAA and will study Geology at the University of Liverpool and Emily achieved AAA and is studying Pharmaceutical Studies at the University of Cardiff. Emily said, "I am very happy with my results, and I can't wait for my next steps. Thank you to everyone at Anglo for their support."

Amelie and Jacky (pictured below) were celebrating excellent results. Jacky achieved A*AAB and is progressing to University of St Andrews to study Geography. Amelie achieved AABB said, "This is such a rewarding moment – just the best feeling! All that hard work really paid off".

For A level students, the success continues, Martha gained grades A* A* A and progresses to the University of Liverpool to study Psychology. Imogen gained A A B B and will study Law at Exeter said, "I am so thrilled! I can't believe it and I'm so very proud of myself!" . Additionally, Ophelia, who achieved AAAB will progress to Nottingham to study Psychology and Jamie, (pictured below) will study International Relations at Durham.

Increasing numbers of students are now choosing to pursue Higher Level Apprenticeships, rather than traditional university degrees. Taha, having achieved ABB has accepted a degree apprenticeship at Grant Thornton. Lukasz (pictured) completed 4 A Levels achieving A*A*AB and has been accepted at Goldsmiths of London on a degree apprenticeship, working in Hatton Garden. Lukasz said, "My results are amazing; they get me to university and also have opened the door for a degree apprenticeship with The Goldsmiths Company. I am really proud!"

Finally, Anglo would not be Anglo without some interesting international destinations; congratulations to Lee who will be pursuing his degree at Coursus Master en Ingénierie, Nantes Université and Amir who will study Commerce at the University of Toronto to name but two!

Congratulations to you all! Anglo European is extremely proud of the class of 2026!
